Savor the flavor of eating right
National Nutrition Month® is a nutrition education and information campaign created annually in March by the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. The campaign focuses attention on the importance of making informed food choices and developing sound eating and physical activity habits.

The theme for 2016 is “Savor the Flavor of Eating Right,” which encourages everyone to take time to enjoy food traditions and appreciate the pleasures, great flavors and social experiences food can add to our lives.

How, when, why and where we eat are just as important as what we eat. Develop a mindful eating pattern that includes nutritious and flavorful foods – that’s the best way to savor the flavor of eating right!

This month, test yourself and your agency to do a different food challenge each week. You can use the ones listed below, or come up with one or two yourself to administer. Have fun with it, and concentrate how eating well can help energize other various parts of your day.

CHALLENGES FOR NATIONAL NUTRITION MONTH:

- MYSTERY TASTING PARTY: This is a great activity to learn about unusual fruits and vegetables. Bring in some unfamiliar fruit (can include kiwi, jicama, pomegranate, etc.). Blindfold employees and ask them to taste the fruit. If they cannot identify it by taste, give them clues such as which vitamins it contains or where it is grown.

- COLORFUL FOODS: Fruits and vegetables come in various different colors, and a balanced diet should include food from each of these colors. Challenge yourself and/or the group to eat the rainbow (red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet) throughout the week at lunch. Bragging rights to the person who has the most colorful meal!

- MAKING HEALTHY CHOICES: Teach the important parts of nutrition labels, such as calories, fat grams, saturated and unsaturated fat, dietary fiber and sugars (handout can be found here). Hand out copies of nutrition labels and have employees identify key points.

- FLAVOR GEOGRAPHY: Pin a map of the world in the break room/lunch room. Invite employees to look up their favorite herbs/flavors (i.e. curry) and then learn where in the world the food is grown or manufactured. Post herb/flavor picture on the map with a short informational tidbit.

- LUNCH SWAP: Do you always have lunch in the same location? Change it up and choose a different location to have lunch. Notice if your food tastes better or the same, if you enjoy lunch more or less, etc.

- STICKS OVER KNIVES: Try utilizing something other than a fork and knife to eat lunch. Some suggestions can be chopsticks like in Asia, using flat bread as a spoon like in India, drinking soup right from a bowl like in Japan, or even the newfangled fingerspoon! Does it make eating more fun or more messy?

HOW DO I UTILIZE THE WELL-BEING INSIGHT TOOLKITS?
The Well-being Insight Toolkits were created and formatted to assist you, as a wellness coordinator, to promote employee well-being in your state agency. We do this effectively through quarterly activities and tools.

HOW CAN I ENGAGE MY CO-WORKERS TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MONTHLY ACTIVITIES?
We provide a brief synopsis for each month’s theme and activity in the editor’s note that you can utilize to advertise to employees at your state agency. Also, we provide you with all the materials needed to advertise and promote the month’s well-being activity, including email content you can send to employees.

PLEASE NOTE: The intent of the activities in the Toolkit is to give opportunities and empower employees to thrive in their own lives. It is in no way to pressure employees to participate in well-being activities.

WHEN SHOULD I EMAIL THE ACTIVITIES OUT TO EMPLOYEES AT MY AGENCY?
We recommend emailing the brief overview two weeks before the month begins to advertise the theme for the month and promote the activities. Also, we include in the toolkit an email you can send to employees who have signed up for the program, highlighting the month’s theme and activities.

These are recommendations, but you are the expert of your state agency so you know what will best work for your site and location. This toolkit is for you to promote monthly well-being initiatives while making it simple and easy for you.
